

FARM PROGRAM BEING ALTERED BY CONDITIONS

Five Changes Under Consideration By Officials

Washington, July 4.—(AP)—Changing conditions are necessitating corresponding alterations in the program of the farm administration.

The developments of the season, with the widespread drought as the principal influence, have brought five changes into contemplation:

Abandonment of control over livestock production.

An increased production of wheat and cotton over the figures for the current year.

The institution of a single reduction contract to cover all feed grains subject to curtailment.

The establishment of a plan for storing grain on the farms, with loans made against it. Possibly the grain would be placed under government seal.

A broad milk program for the eastern section of the country with many milk marketing agreements condensed into one adjustment program.

Officials are veering to the opinion that livestock production can best be restricted by controlling the output of feed grains. Raising the latter and raising live stock are closely allied and generally carried on the same farm. Usually a farmer raises no more live stock than he can feed with the produce of his own fields.

In addition, it is expected that livestock surpluses will be virtually eliminated this year. A survey showed a 27 per cent reduction in pigs as of June 1 and drought relief plans call for the purchase of about 5,000,000 cattle and an equal number of sheep.

A group contract for grains is already being drafted, marking the first step toward a broad system of bringing all crops under a blanket curtailment agreement. The contract covers corn, rice, barley and grain sorghums.

The wheat crop is estimated at about 500,000,000 bushels with a reduction in the carryover from this year's 260,000,000 bushels to about 125,000,000. A relaxation in the present 15 per cent cut is widely expected.

The year's cotton crop is expected to total about 10,000,000 bales. Next year the plan is, this will be increased to 13,000,000. Domestic demand is expected to reduce the carry-over to 6,000,000 bales, which is about normal, and causes plantings of 35,000,000 acres of cotton as compared to 25,000,000 this year.

Secretary Wallace already has proposed the storing of grain on the farms where it is produced. The grain would be marketed as demand dictates. Officials believe this would narrow fluctuations in prices.

VERDICT GIVING WOMAN $15,000 IS SET ASIDE

Judge Claims Damage To Girl Was Not Shown

Edmonton, Alta. July 4.—(AP)—The jury's verdict assessing $15,000 against Premier J. E. Brownlee in Vivian MacMillan's suit charging that he seduced her was set aside today by Justice W. C. Ives, who presided at the trial of the case.

Justice Ives gave a judgment in the Alberta supreme court which dismissed the suit of the girl, a former government stenographer and her father, Allan MacMillan.

The action means that Miss MacMillan and her father will have no claim on the premier for the sums of $10,000 and $5,000 awarded them, respectively, unless they can successfully prosecute an appeal.

Their plans were not announced immediately.

No Damage Shown

Justice Ives ruled that no damage to the girl or her father as a result of the alleged seduction had been shown.

"In my opinion," he wrote, "the matter is well settled that damage is the gist of the action. And I also am of the opinion that the damage necessary to found the right of action to the woman must be of the same character as gave the master his right of action—that is, loss of service. x x x"

"Upon the verdict being announced by the jury, counsel for the defendant moved for dismissal of the action on the ground there was no evidence of any interference with the daughter's services to the parent to which he was entitled and no evidence that seduction in any way interfered with the daughter's ability to serve."

"It is quite clear that the daughter left her home in Edmonton with the consent and approval of her parents. x x x it is equally undoubted that no illness resulted from the seduction and no evidence that the ability of the daughter to render services was in any way interfered with."

The upsetting of the verdict had no immediate reaction in political circles.

After the jury returned the verdict last Saturday night, Brownlee submitted his resignation as premier, but it has not yet been accepted.

The girl contended she came to Edmonton from her small town home at the invitation of Brownlee, who had written her parents and that she had intimate relations with the premier while working here.

Brownlee filed a counter-claim against the girl and a young medical student, charging conspiracy against him. He withdrew his claim before the trial concluded.

Al Capone Sees Boxing Show At Atlanta Prison

Atlanta, July 4.—(AP)—It was a swell Fourth for Al Capone who laid down his hammer in the shoe shop at the federal penitentiary here to take in a two-hour boxing show at the big house.

Bare-headed and garbed in the regulation prison denim, the former Chicago gang chief climbed upon a bench to shout advice to the combatants, pounded his fists when his man was winning and wagged cigarettes—legal tender among prisoners—on the outcome of the bouts.

The former gangster was the picture of health. Work in the shoe shop to which he was assigned upon entering the penitentiary two years ago apparently is agreeing with him. Capone is serving 11 years for federal income tax evasion.

Except for a sports writer, imported from the outside to referee the fights, the show was an all-prison affair.

SUNSHINE LADY IS ACCUSED OF GENTRY SLAYING

Police Claim Woman Confessed Paying Killer $60

BULLETIN

Jefferson, Wis. July 5.—(Thursday)—(AP)—Sheriff Joseph T. Lange of Jefferson county this morning said he had captured George (Slim) King, who had made a full confession of the slaying of Earl B. Gentry, former bodyguard to the leader of Indiana Klandom.

Known about Jefferson as "Slim" King, the prisoner, Lange said, told him his name was Carl B. Church; that he was 36 years old and was born in Monett, Kansas.

"I'm glad I did it and I'd do it again," Lange quoted Church as saying in his confession. "Gentry Gill was a wonderful woman and treated me elegantly. I knew Gentry was mistreating her and I killed him as a good deed for the community."

Jefferson, Wis. July 4.—(AP)—The "Sunshine Lady," whose kindly acts won Jefferson's esteem, and an itinerant painter were accused today of plotting for six weeks and finally carrying out the murder of Earl B. Gentry, 47, one-time bodyguard to D. C. Stephenson, imprisoned chief of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan.

The "Sunshine Lady," Mrs. Carrie Gill, 59-year-old widow, at whose home Gentry lived eight years, was living in the county jail. George (Slim) King, to whom she said she paid $60 to shoot Gentry the night of June 30, was hunted. Both were charged with first degree murder.

Quoted Woman

District Attorney Harold M. Dakin quoted Mrs. Gill as saying Gentry terrorized her for two years, beat her and threatened her life. She said that the night before the slaying Gentry threatened to kill her with a beer bottle. Letters found in Gentry's effects indicated Mrs. Gill was jealous of other women in his life.

Dakin expressed the opinion fear and jealousy prompted the slaying. Dakin today announced that Mrs. Gill confessed after several hours of questioning last night. Previously she had refused to talk.

The painter came to his home early last Sunday morning, confessed the murder and asked aid in removing Gentry's body from Mrs. Gill's home, the scene of the slaying. Probst, the district attorney said, complied. The body was found in Gentry's automobile near the Crawfish river just outside of town.

Then came Mrs. Gill's statement. Dakin said she told him informally she and King first talked about slaying Gentry six weeks ago. King was reluctant. About two weeks ago she communicated with King at a Chicago hotel, wired him $60 and made arrangements for a meeting at Jefferson.

"After several talks with him we made arrangements for him to kill Earl B. Gentry the night of Saturday, June 30," said the statement made public by Dakin. "I told him where to find Earl Gentry's gun and made arrangements where he could find the keys to the house when I left them outside."

"I left my home about 9:15 p. m. and told my brother, Ferdinand Probst, that arrangements had been made to bump Earl Gentry off that night."

"I next saw George King about 9 o'clock Sunday morning at Ferdinand Probst's home. He told me that he had quite a time with Earl, that when he pulled the gun on Earl Earl begged for his life and he shot him then. x x x"

The statement said Mrs. Gill, in company with a friend not implicated in the plot, drove past Gentry's parked automobile Sunday afternoon. "I knew Earl was in the parked car," she added.

Probst was detained. Dakin said he was considering the issuance of an accessory charging him with being an accessory after the fact. Donald Probst, 17-year-old nephew of Ferdinand, was released from custody today.

The elder Probst told in detail of the scene in the Gill home. The body, covered with a rug and several towels, was dragged into Gentry's sedan. Probst said, after which the painter hastily wiped up the blood stains and they drove to the Crawfish river, where they left the car. Probst said he went home "and told Carrie all about it and we both went to sleep."

Gentry was acquitted in the Madge Oberholzer murder case in Indiana in 1925, when Stephenson, a co-defendant, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

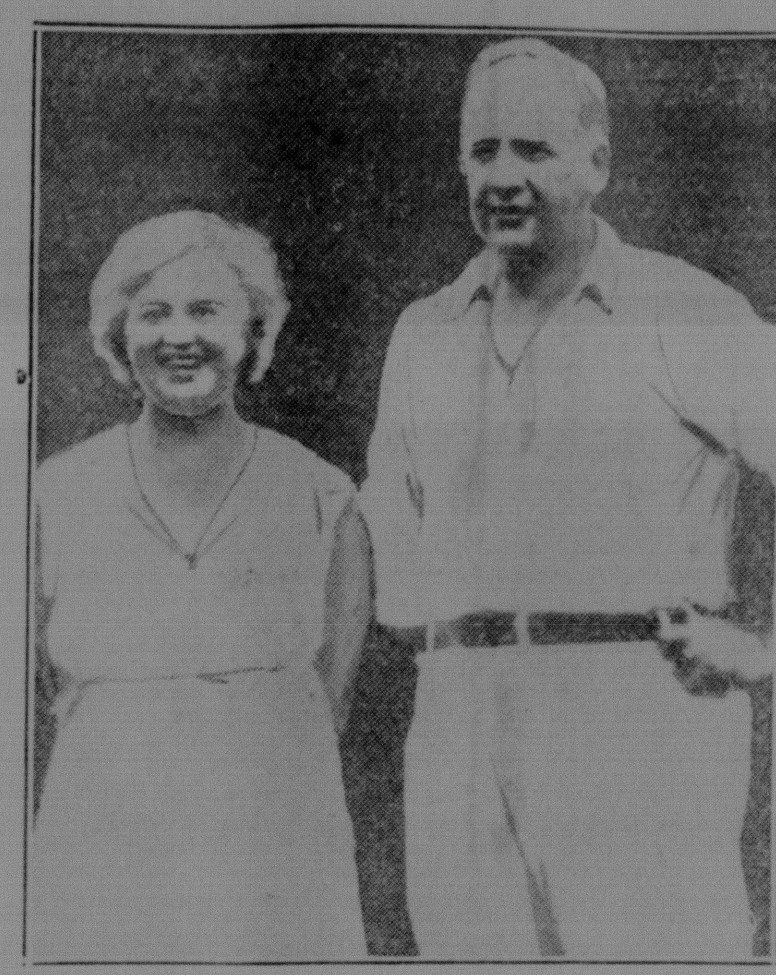

LOCATE SECOND AUTO THEFT RING

Chicago, July 4.—(AP)—With the arrest of six men, the state's attorney's office today claimed the break up of an auto theft ring, the second to be rounded up in 24 hours.

Nine men were taken into custody today, but three were later released when they were said to be innocent employees of the gang's leaders.

From Earl Estep, alleged leader of the ring apprehended Tuesday, police said a confession had been obtained and seven men suspected of collaborating with Estep are being held.

Former Indiana Klan Leader Who Was Killed for $60.

Earl Gentry, former power in Ku Klux Klan, was found beaten and shot to death in his auto at Jefferson, Wis. With him is Mrs. Carrie Gill, who police claim admitted she paid $60 to have him murdered.

Vonhindenbueg Refuses to Bow Before Will of Adolf Hitler; Von Papen to Stay

By Louis P. Lochner Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, July 4.—Germany's "sturdy oak," President Paul von Hindenburg, refused today to bow before the will of Adolf Hitler, and the president's protégé, Franz von Papen, kept his place as Vice Chancellor of the Reich.

Hitler, who a few days ago ruthlessly killed his enemies in the Nazi party, came back to Berlin this afternoon from a conference at Neudeck with the 86-year-old president.

Shortly afterwards, it was announced Von Papen, who not only is not a Nazi but is a critic of many Nazi policies, would keep his position. Until yesterday it had been the plan of the "purged" Nazi party to remove him from office and give the second place in the cabinet to Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, at present Hitler's closest collaborator.

Plane Flight

When the "resignation" was not forthcoming as expected, Hitler made a dramatic flight by plane to the country estate of the president, who had told the Reichwehr (regular army) to protect Von Papen.

The announcement that Von Papen will remain in office was accompanied with an official intimation he might go on a "leave of absence" shortly.

It was explained the middle-aged conservative Vice Chancellor has been in bad health—and his condition was undermined by the stirring events of the last week.

That week had seen Von Papen stripped of his close personal and official aides, several of whom were killed as "traitors."

Von Hindenburg, who congratulated Hitler on his sanguinary "liquidation" of rebels, insisted in his talk with the Chancellor that Von Papen not be eased out of the cabinet under the present circumstances.

His removal would have been generally interpreted, the president is understood to have said, as an admission the Vice Chancellor was implicated in the "treachery" which aroused the fury of Hitler.

Friends of Von Papen said his illness was not simply "diplomatic" ill health to account for the leave of absence.

He was represented as "completely sagged" by worries about his own person and his family during the three day period they were prisoners in their residence on Hitler's order.

Von Papen did not attend yesterday's cabinet session, a friend said, because he did not want to sign his name to the law legalizing the executions Saturday and Sunday.

If he had done so he would have been forced to approve the violent death of his own close collaborator, Robert von Bose.

Another cabinet member was also said to have absented himself because he could not bear to commend the killing of Erich Klausener, leader of the Catholic action party.

Meanwhile, another tragic chapter in last Saturday's story of bloody deeds was written with the revelation in Munich that Fritz Beck, 46-year-old head of the foreign academic bureau, was killed.

"Director Beck met with a terrible accident," said the bureau, and it was understood that he was killed by a hot-headed Nazi acting without authorization.

Munich heard many other prominent persons, not yet officially listed as dead, fell. One was said to have been killed because he was mistaken for another person.

The press department, while still not giving out an official list, revised its former estimate of the number of executions downward.

Yesterday the number was given as "below sixty," and today as "below fifty." Unofficial estimates run into the hundreds.

Four names were officially added

FOURTH OF JULY DEATH TOLL IS OVER HUNDRED

Automobiles, Lakes And Rivers Claim Most Victims

By The Associated Press Death laid a heavy hand on the nation's commemoration of the "glorious Fourth."

At least 86 persons died yesterday as millions of citizens celebrated the 158th anniversary of Independence Day.

Fireworks—once the chief killer on the holiday—claimed but one life, that of a five year old Chinook (Mont.) girl. In 1903, records of the American Medical Association showed, 466 persons died, mainly from fireworks and runaway accidents.

Automobiles on traffic clogged highways and lakes and rivers claimed most of the victims. Tabulations about midnight showed the following deaths:

Fireworks, 1; automobiles, 44; drownings, 48; accidental shootings, 2; other causes, 20.

Five persons were burned to death in the flaming wreckage of an airplane at St. Ansgar, Ia. All were plane men in New York City three inmates of the Welfare Island penitentiary were crushed to death when a grandstand collapsed as they watched a baseball game between prison teams. Fifty six others were injured. There was one airplane death in California.

Harold E. Wright, 26, Lemoyne, Pa., a racing driver, was killed at the York (Pa.) fairgrounds when his car overturned in a race.

1,000 Treated

Almost 1,000 persons received treatment for minor fireworks burns and were treated in hospitals and doctor's offices over the nation. A few were hurt seriously.

But from American colonies abroad to the tiniest hamlet in the United States the day was celebrated with festivities and ceremonies. Orators waxed patriotic; picnics, beaches, golf, racing events and the great outdoors entertained millions.

In Chicago 180,000 persons crammed into the world's fair grounds where appropriate ceremonies, including a 48 gun salute by the military stationed on the grounds, greeted the holiday. Despite the fact that thousands motored into the nation's second city, not a single traffic fatality was recorded late last night.

The stars and stripes were unfurled on the Cruiser Houston as it bore President Roosevelt to the Bahamas Islands for a day of fishing.

Air waves brought to the United States the felicitations of King Christian and Prime Minister Stauning of Denmark. Minister Ruth Bryan Owen read a message from President Roosevelt to the Danes.

New York City witnessed the rallies of veterans and heard salutes fired by army contingents. At a Socialist party gathering there also Norman Thomas demanded a new declaration of independence.

The exit of a good proportion of official Washington to cooler retreats was matched by an influx of tourists. Many persons attended memorial services at the grave of former President Calvin Coolidge in Plymouth, Vt.

Vice President Garner rested at his home in Uvalde, Texas, while in neighboring Oklahoma the counting of primary election votes held general interest. In Paris, France, Americans and Frenchmen joined in an observance of the occasion, but probably none spent the day in a more unique manner than a nervous Des Moines woman who entered a hospital until the din had died away.

A threat of rain served to hold down attendance at the World's Fair in Chicago but 84,000 customers had passed through the turnstiles in mid-afternoon.

Fireworks casualties were widespread despite the fact pyrotechnics were forbidden in many localities. Sixty-four persons had been treated at New York City hospitals by mid-afternoon. Chicago police were kept busy taking victims of mishaps to infirmaries, and an eight-year-old girl, an aged man and a hotel clerk were accidentally shot—the latter when he mistook a gun battle for a celebration.

A holiday bomb seriously injured a boy there, too. More than a score of fireworks injuries were reported at Kansas City. A Nebraska city policeman suffered serious hurts under similar circumstances.

Charles F. Haffke Forecasts Return Of Prohibition

Chicago, July 4.—(AP)—Charles F. Haffke, who came here to head the Illinois anti-saloon league, today forecast the return of prohibition and said that the league would concentrate on a drive for local option.

"One of our immediate objectives," he said, "is to aid communities in abolishing saloons through local legislation."

"Democratic campaign pledges against the return of the saloon have been flagrantly flouted," Haffke said. "Prohibition will return. People will stand for deception and abuses about as long. Then they will turn, as they have on filthy movies, and clean things up."

GIRL BADLY BURNED

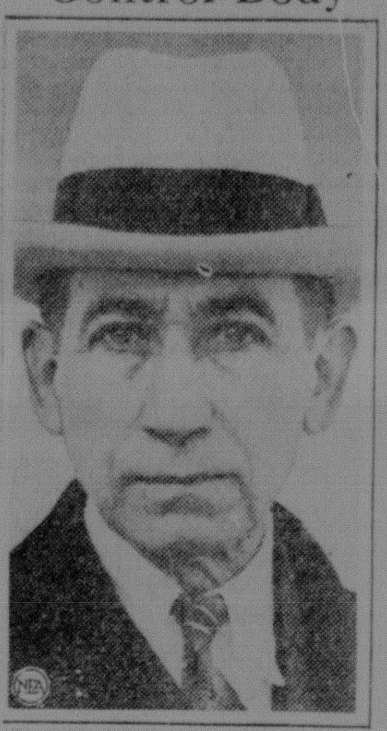

Litchfield, Ill. July 4.—(AP)—Roseline Nail, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nail of Springfield, Ill., (718 South 15th street) was badly burned this afternoon when a torpedo thrown in an American Legion celebration lit on her and exploded.

The girl was burned on the chest, arms and shoulders, and was taken to local hospital for treatment. She had stopped here with relatives who were on their way to Staunton, Ill.

by the Nazi organ in Eileasia, which announced that "for attempting to escape while being transported from Hirschberg to Goerlitz on the night of July 2" an Goerlitz, a married couple and a merchant were killed.

This would seem to indicate, informed persons said, that measures had been taken against Jews in that section of Germany.

INSULL'S WIFE HAS RETURNED TO AMERICA

Will Join Husband In Chicago At Early Date

New York, July 4.—(AP)—After nine months of absence, Mrs. Samuel Insull, wife of the indicted utilities magnate, returned to the United States today to join her husband.

She arrived on the Liner Majestic, on which she had traveled tourist class. Her son, Samuel Insull, Jr., met her at quarantine. They planned to take a midnight train for Chicago.

"I frankly felt relieved that the whole business has come to a head," she said of the charges against her husband. "I am optimistic about the whole matter and believe he will win out."

Small, dark, and very pale, Mrs. Insull showed poise as she received interviews in her simple cabin. In better days, the Insulls had traveled in de luxe suites.

"I have always felt," she said, "that women should not express views on subjects they are not familiar with. Naturally I can not discuss what is pending in Chicago because I do not understand or grasp what the details are."

Believes In Insull "I believe implicitly in Mr. Insull's honor. I should know, for I have known him for many years. I have never known a dishonest suggestion to enter his thoughts. I know his point of view."

"May I tell you of one incident. It has not been told before. When our mutual friend, Madame Kouyoungjoglou, hastened on a steamer to Istanbul to be of whatever assistance she could be to my husband, there was a report current that Mr. Insull had ten million dollars put away."

"She told the official who made the statement that he was a poor man and had nothing. But he would not believe it, and later said: 'Well then, if he did not put it away he was a great fool.'"

"Later, this story was repeated to Mr. Insull and he said: 'I could be rich still but I did not want it.'"

"Could you have put aside ten million dollars and no one know about it, he was asked. He replied: 'I could have but did not and the fact that I did not causes me no regret.'"

Mrs. Insull said she could not understand why a man always known for strict honesty in business should suddenly, at the age of 74, be charged with violating principles he had always lived up to.

"The best answer I can give you is Mr. Insull's own statement when he left Europe for America: 'When I heard my judgment may be discredited, but my honor will be vindicated.'"

Mrs. Insull arrived with six trunks and six pieces of hand luggage. Customs inspectors detained her an hour in the hot pier shed while they examined her belongings. During the procedure she grew tired and warm.

Then with her son and her sister, Mrs. Esther Bird, who met her at the pier, she went to a midtown hotel to rest.

Toledo Citizen Obtains $205.68 Pound Of Coffee

Toledo, O., July 4.—(AP)—Somebody in Toledo had a $205.68 cup of coffee today.

Mike Gasparis, grocer, the soul of caution, bid $127 in cash and a $78.88 check in his coffee grinder when he closed his store last night. This morning bright and early, a customer asked for a pound of coffee, ground on the spot. Gasparis' clerk obliged. The coffee was ground. So was the money and the check.

SENATOR BORAH ASSAILS BOTH MAJOR PARTIES

Failed To Combat Big Monopolies He Declares

Washington, July 4.—(AP)—Senator Borah, Republican independent, tonight criticized the administration for an "effort to fasten a stranglehold system of bureaucracy upon the people."

He assailed both major political parties for failure to combat monopolies.

Borah made his statements to the nation over a national radio hookup in an address closely following national talks by spokesmen for both the Democratic and Republican parties.

He tempered his charge of "bureaucracy" against the administration with a statement that so long as the administration fight was for the correction of abuses which led to the depression he would support the administration. Then he swung back to say:

"But the effort to fasten a stranglehold system of bureaucracy upon the people generally, to place producers and small business in a network of laws and rules and regulations which not only embarrass the people but aggravate their distress, I shall oppose in every way I know."

Harks Back

Borah harked back, in taking up the subject of monopolies, to the Republican policy meeting at Chicago recently and to the Democratic national platform of 1932, declaring the former party had failed to seize as an issue that question, and charging that the platform plan concerning monopolies had not been retained in the Democratic administration program.

"In the last campaign," he said, "the successful party denounced the party in power for fostering the merger of competitive business into monopolies as one of the chief causes of the present disaster. That party was right. But when this party took charge of the government, one of the first things it did was to suspend the anti-trust laws and monopoly was never more unrestrained or more ruthless than at the present time."

"Now the defeated party, looking about for some issues, seems wholly unwilling to touch this vital issue. Neither in the statement at Chicago, nor in the platform, has there been the slightest reference to an issue which affects every home in the United States."

"With small business struggling for existence against fostered and protected monopoly, with the consumers feeling more and more the extortionate weight of monopoly, party leaders are dumb."

"The so-called party leaders of the two great parties may believe they can smother this issue in this campaign. But they were never more mistaken in their lives. If I can get the radio about the middle of October, I shall report progress on this issue."

It was Borah and another Republican, Independent Nye of North Dakota, who protested so strongly to the NRA against the effect of some of its codes on little business that the national recovery review board, headed by Clarence Darrow, was named. The board subsequently reported that the NRA codes had fostered monopoly.

Borah said a free press was essential and warned of the danger of a bureaucratic control of the press. He said:

"If the government can take away the right to grow cotton and force the grower to plant according to some bureau's judgment and thereby force thousands to the point of starvation, it is only a question of time, and it always has been so, until this creeping paralysis of bureaucracy benumbs the hand of the editor. I do not call this Naziism. God forbid. I do not claim it is fascism or communism. It is none of these."

"It is simply that middle-class, irritating, confusing, undermining, destructive thing called bureaucracy. It is that form of government which steals away man's rights in the name of public interest and taxes him to death in the name of recovery. Of all the forms of government which have ever been permitted to torture the human family, the most burdensome, the most expensive, the most demoralizing, the most devastating to human happiness and the most destructive of human values is a bureaucracy."

"It has destroyed every civilization upon which it has fastened its lecherous grip."

"If permitted to act under general just and equal laws, with an adequate monetary system and an adequate banking system, protected from the exactions of monopoly, free also from the restraint and dictation of bureaucracy, the people will win this war against depression. Destroy their morale and the fight is lost."

The ranking Republican member of the senate foreign relations committee also touched on the matter of war and other foreign debts to say that "during the last 20 years we have sent nearly $400,000,000 of the American taxpayers' money to Europe." He added:

"Naziism may be responsible for the default in Germany, but not in Great Britain or France or Italy."

"The fact is, and no amount of diplomatic fencing can conceal the ugly fact, that these defaults are part of a program of repudiation of these high and honorable obligations and to let the burden fall upon the American taxpayers."

Menaces to Traffic

Motor traffic has grown so fast and to such enormous proportions that it can be menaced considerably by what would ordinarily not be noticed. At Cambridge, Mass., the revived fad of bicycle riding has caused complaint.
There have been nine accidents, and the riders have become a real menace to motor traffic. Of course nothing is said about the way the cyclists are menaced by the cars.

In Newark, N. J., Gypsy moths have become so troublesome that they collect on the headlights of cars. They spread over three counties and have become such a nuisance that motorists have to stop and brush them off the headlights, so they can see to travel at night. The gypsy moth is a menace to crops, but this is the first time it has caused motorists to complain.

In Jacksonville, Ill., the greatest menace to motor traffic must be the pedestrian. We are sure traveling about this city would be much more pleasant for the car driver if the pedestrian did not have to cross streets.

Leopold is Ill

Word came out of Joliet penitentiary that Nathan Leopold who collaborated with Richard Loeb in the murder of Bobby Franks in Chicago ten years ago, is now seriously ill in the prison hospital with a throat infection. Notice of his illness has been sent to his family so that they may visit him.

The two young men who tried to commit "the perfect crime" for the thrill of the thing have been in prison ten years. Frequently since the sensational murder their names have been in the press, but it has been understood they have never been shown any favors in prison. Leopold is now thirty years old, and he and Loeb had fair to spend the rest of their lives in prison.

There has always been a feeling that the two should have paid the extreme penalty for their crime, but perhaps they have been punished more severely than they would have been by death. Both were promising, keen-minded and facing rich opportunities. They have been "cut out of the land of the living," and today they are still young, but they are convicts and face what life is left to them behind prison walls. They deserve no pity, and none is accorded them; but their case makes one wonder if there is not a punishment that is worse than death, and if the court did not after all make one of these two the full measure of justice.

Jail or Marriage

Just now it's jail for a Chicago man, but it might be matrimony if he would only consent to marry the lady who sued him for breach of promise and got a $2,000 judgment. When he could not pay the judgment, she had him thrown in jail.

She expects to keep him there until he "comes to his senses and consents to marry me." Meanwhile she has to pay his board, and she is doing it with money he gave her and which she saved. Such is the irony of fate.

As a rule the man does the proposing, and so doubt this man did; but he later changed his wife, while the lady did not. Now he can stay in jail or carry out his original intentions of matrimony. It's a peculiar case, and it illustrates the determination of a woman not to lose a chance at marriage, once it has come her way.

Perhaps the man could solve the problem if he paid the $2,000 judgment. Thus he would meet the court requirements whether or not he entered into a marriage contract. He has the money, he can either marry the lady or stay in jail. With three choices he should be able to make a decision that would be satisfactory, at least to himself.

Wisconsin's Experiment

One of the advantages of our Federal system of government is that it allows each state to make its own laws insofar as they do not conflict with national laws. Under such a plan of government one would expect quite a range of variance in state laws. However, this is not the case.
The states were intended to be the testing grounds for political projects.
But only a very few of the more progressive states have attempted to try out any form of social planning. Wisconsin is one of the few. Home state of the radical La Follette, it has instituted many changes, and greatly enlarged the scope of the state governments.

The most recent example of social theory which is being put into practice on the Wisconsin proving ground is the system of unemployment insurance which went into effect the first of this week.

Those who fear that such a plan is socialistic should not worry. The best way to prove the defects of a theory is to test out that theory in every day life. If such an insurance scheme talks to be satisfactory, Wisconsin will have done the other states of the Union a service by showing up its weaknesses.

If on the other hand unemployment without at the same time causing the blight of a dole, the state of Wisconsin will have pointed the way for the rest to follow.
President Roosevelt has ordered a study made preparatory to recommending a plan of social insurance to the Congress at its next session. It would be well for the President and his advisors to study the results of the Wisconsin experiment before adopting such a scheme for the nation.

Wall Street Beaten

Wall Street fought tooth and nail against federal regulation of the stock market. The fight was a long one and a bitter one, but Wall Street finally lost it. The stock market bill was passed and the truth-in-securities bill remained essentially un-weakened.

So Wall Street tried a new tack.
It would see that its "friends" were named to the commission which would enforce the new regulation.
The teeth which Congress so laboriously put into the measure would be painlessly extracted.

But once more Wall Street has taken a beating. With a strong, independent man running things, the country can rest assured that no teeth are going to be pulled.

The New Deal
in Washington

Roosevelt Has More Important Aims Than Recreation and Rest for His Journey . . . Church Fought to Be Best Spot to Settle Strikes . . . Drug Bill War
Will Rage With New Fury.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 4.—There's more than a desire for rest and recreation behind this ocean trip of Roosevelt's.

The president's love for the sea can't possibly be minimized. But those closest to him know that several practical considerations entered into his plans.
He will glad-hand Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Hawaii, and in each case tell the islanders about their share in the New Deal. He will meet the presidents of Panama, Colombia, and Haiti and radiate the Roosevelt charm through them to the rest of Latin America.

Some of his advisers privately compare this trip to Herbert Hoover's pre-inauguration "good will" tour to Central and South America in 1928.
Administration commercial policy now looks toward Latin America and Asia rather than Europe. You can bear in mind that Puerto Rico, a Spanish country under our flag, may be considered our outpost in Latin America.

The Spanish-speaking republics, feeling a close bond, have always kept an eye on the island and watched our course of action there—a fact always remembered in this capital.

Roosevelt will promise a lot of economic rehabilitation to Puerto Rico. From Hawaii—populated largely by Japanese, Chinese and Filipinos—he will make a bow to the Orient.

An old politician the tour seems a stroke of sheer genius. It gives F. D. the best possible excuse for crossing the country—he has to get back to Washington.

Returning from Hawaii, he will make speeches and get out among the people. Political intentions are disclaimed—which wouldn't be so easy if Roosevelt merely went cross-country and back—but the net effect will be a sales campaign for the administration.

Strikes Settled in Church
If you want to settle a strike—take it to church.

Even before an archbishop had been named as chief mediator for the Pacific longshoremen's strike and a priest assigned to the Milwaukee street car walkout, Mediator Frank Bowen of the National Labor Board had come back from a packinghouse strike in Oklahoma with that recipe.

The striking butcher boys were a hard-boiled lot and several folk had been sent to hospitals. Bowen had a settlement to offer, but anticipated plenty of trouble keeping them quiet long enough to permit it to be explained.

Other places being refused by owners who feared for the furniture, the strikers were finally gathered into a church.

Instead of rioting, the butchers seemed awed. Some seemed to be exploding with either wrath or tobacco juice, but all listened attentively.
They accepted the settlement without a single cuss word and stayed to clean up after the meeting.

Drug Bill to Rage Anew Undersecretary Tugwell wrote a letter in longhand and sent photostat copies to all employees of the Food and Drug Administration. He condoled over failure of the food and drug act, and promised the fight for it would be renewed when congress reconvened.

Tugwell didn't say so, but the administration's battle for the bill will be far stronger than its effort last session. The measure will be even stiffer than the original Tugwell bill, if only on the theory that margin is needed for purposes of "trading"
with the opposition.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, whose efforts to get a bill passed didn't excite any widespread admiration, won't be entrusted with the job next January. The Food and Drug people found other friends in the Senate who they believe will be more effective.

Meanwhile, work has begun on a new "chamber of horrors" through which the administration will demonstrate deadly effects of certain poisonous cosmetics and fake patent medicines.

Daredevils With Tom Mix Circus Coming

Try this in your back-yard some morning? If your life is heavily insured and you have no further desire to live, you have a very good chance of ending it all by trying this stunt, that Borel Jordan, of the famous Jordan Family, performs twice daily, with The Great Sam B. Dill Circus which is scheduled to give two performances here July 10, at the Hempel showgrounds.

The Jordan Family have just completed a successful vaudeville tour of Central Europe and upon their return to America were immediately signed up for the present season by the management of the Dill-Mix organization.
From the dizzy heights of the big top, these dare-devils perform feats that actually seem to defy the laws of gravitation.

The Great Sam B. Dill Circus combined with Tom Mix Round Up, is one of the three large circuses touring this year, and is said to be the "largest circus in the world still giving a street parade, which will be held here at noon circus day.

Tom Mix and "Tony" will appear at each performance of the big show.
It will not be necessary to remain for the concert or after show to see them perform.

They are running longitudinal and latitudinal base lines and are erecting observation towers. One of these towers is to be put up in the vicinity of Waverly. The range of vision from the top of the tower is said to be eighty miles.

The crew that is making the government geodetic survey in this part of Illinois is now camping at Waverly.
It was expected the outfit
would stop at Nichols park this week, but the plans were changed.

The party traveled from Chandler-ville to Waverly and went into camp on the Walter Miller farm. The tent city and equipment requires a large tract of ground, as there are about eighty men in the surveying crew.

"A New and Shocking Record"

"Illinois established a new record in March—the statistics but recently available—a new record of death on the highways that should impress upon the minds of all drivers the necessity of greater care. The 207 deaths in the state from motor vehicle accidents in the month was the highest for any March, and was 50 per cent greater than for the same month in 1933."

BANNER YEAR SEEN FOR LEGUMES AND LINING IN ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., July 4.—With approximately 1,500,000 acres of Illinois corn and wheat land retired from normal production as a result of the government's adjustment programs, 1934 may become the banner year since 1930 in the application of limestone and the seeding of alfalfa and other legumes in this state, says C. M. Linsley, soils extension specialist at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

This is borne out by reports from county farm advisers in all parts of the state. In all these reports there is evidence of a new and livelier interest on the part of farmers in the college's long-time program for more legumes and better cropping systems.

Two of the most noticeable effects of the AAA in Will county are the increased demand for alfalfa and sweet clover seed and the increased use of the soil testing service to protect these new legume seedings, according to L. W. Braham, farm adviser at Joliet. "Up to May 1," Braham explains, "the demand for alfalfa seed increased more than 250 per cent and sweet clover seed 300 per cent over the amount purchased during the first four months of 1933. At a proportion for these increased purchases, samples of soil representing more than 500 acres were tested and mapped during the month of April alone."

Thirty-two carloads of limestone were ordered by Peoria county farmers during April and May of this year, reports J. W. Wisenand, farm adviser there, while in Carroll county 15 crushers have been operated at local quarries to supply the limestone demands of farmers. "It looks like one of the high years for liming and sowing alfalfa," is the comment of M. P. Roske, Carroll county farm adviser.

Seeding of alfalfa in Stephenson county will be unusually heavy this year, if the number of soil tests and inquiries relative to the seeding of alfalfa can be taken as an indication, writes Farm Adviser V. J. Benter. In one month 407 acres of Stephenson county soils were tested for acidity and hundreds of inquiries received relative to legume production.

The corn-hog program has directed the attention of Douglas county farmers to the importance of crop yields, and as a result there is a growing interest in legumes this year, Farm Adviser Ward C. Cannon reports. A similar trend is noted in Edwards county where Farm Adviser W. D. Murphy reports gains in alfalfa acreage. Sales of alfalfa seed in DeWitt county have been several times higher than normal, in the opinion of Farm Adviser L. N. Myers and E. S. Amrine, farm adviser in Wayne county, reports several hundred tons of limestone ordered for farmers in his county.

Fair Bathers Take Shower

On a warm afternoon a half dozen beauties from Neptune Follies at the new World's Fair slip away to enjoy the cooling spray of a shower in the largest bath tub in the world at the Crane & Company exhibit. They seem too happy to notice that their play is being laughingly overseen by men who peep at them through the glass window that forms a part of the side of the tub. But, after all, they are more or less on exhibition, and they did not tremble at public gaze.

Revenue District Funds Set Record

Y. Dailman, collector of internal revenue for the Eighth Illinois District, has closed the books for the district covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, and reports a grand total collection of the immense sum of $21,037,125.86. This large collection smashes all past-time records for this district and is more than three times greater than for the corresponding 1933 fiscal year. The total for 1933 was $6,273,536.10.

The increase in tax due to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, by which revenues on distilled spirits were added totaled about $6,000,000 for the portion of the fiscal year liquors were permitted to be manufactured. It is therefore, evident that the regular revenues collected for the past fiscal year were more than double the former year after deducting all taxes derived from the liquor business.

Commencing with September, 1933, Collector Dailman reports a steady increase in the amount of collections each month thereafter. "The only interpretation that can be placed upon these facts," says Collector Dailman, "is that business is gradually and surely getting better."

The total collections for June aggregated $2,852,237.73, as compared with $747,127.85 a year ago. These collections do not take into consideration any revenues from the four counties recently added to the district effective July 1. The revenues which will be derived from the new territory will be reflected in the annual receipts for the ensuing fiscal year. It is expected that the large distilleries and breweries in Peoria will add approximately $55,000,000 to the collections of this district during the next fiscal year.

Browns Shutout White Sox In Opening Game 4-0 But Pale Hose Take Final 3-2

Chicago, July 4.—(P)—Nipping the tying tally on a rundown play between third and home to end the game, the White Sox gained an even split in their holiday double-header with the St. Louis Browns before 14,000 here today, taking the second game, 3 to 2, after Dick Coffman had shut them out, 4 to 0, with two hits, both singles, in the opener.

The Browns trailed, 3 to 0, going into the eighth inning of the second game as a result of the Sox' having chased George Blaeholder in the fourth inning with five consecutive singles by Manager Dykes, Bonura, Simmons, Boken and Chamberlin to score all their runs. They finally got to young Les Tietje for a run in the eighth when the first year right-hander unloosed a wild pitch after Bejma and West had singled.

Tietje, who had fanned nine Browns in eight innings, walked Melillo to start the ninth and was replaced by Phil Galloway. Hensley greeted Galloway with a single that put Melillo on second.

Strange sacrifice batted for Bill McAfee, who with Jack Knott had pitched shut out relief ball for five innings, but was called out on strikes. That put the issue up to Bejma. He sent an easy grounder to Shortstop Boken, who fumbled. Melillo scored easily, but Hensley rounded third too deeply in an attempt to also score the tying run on the miscue. He was trapped and run down, Boken to Shea to Chamberlin, thus ending the game.

RED SOX DIVIDE WITH YANKEES

Boston, July 4.—(P)—A holiday crowd of 33,819 saw the Boston Red Sox win the first game of a double-header with the New York Yankees 8 to 5, and then drop the second, 10 to 4.

The Sox slammed the offerings of Danny MacFayden for 12 hits before a man was out in the fifth inning of the first game and scored seven of their eight runs at his expense. Every Boston player hit safely at least once, and Werber singled twice, scored three times, drove in a run and stole his 20th base.

Jimmy Deshong held the Red Sox to four hits in the nightcap for his first victory of the season. The Sox scored four times, twice in the second when Hoag, who replaced Babe Ruth in left field, dropped a fly ball. With the score at five all in the last of the fifth in the first game Porter singled, Rick Ferrell doubled and Lary singled to center scoring two runs, sufficient to win.

INDIANS SPLIT WITH TIGERS

Detroit, July 4.—(P)—Hugging the heels of the league-leading Yankees, the Detroit Tigers today divided the honors with Cleveland in a double header, dropping the first game 8 to 6 but coming back to capture the second 5 to 2.

Hudlin went the route for the Indians in the second game and was touched for six hits, four of which were mixed with passes to help the Tigers scoring. Darkness forced the conclusion of the game in the eighth.

The first game was a see-saw affair with the Tigers acquiring and then losing the lead through a series of errors and some snappy fielding by the Indians. Averill and Fox got home runs in the opener.

State Turns on Hits to Win From Mac's Clothiers 10-7

Turning on a blast of hitting, the Jacksonville State Hospital Redlegs upset the Mac's Clothiers of Beards-town with a rally in the sixth and seventh inning to win the second game of the series with this team 10-7. Beards-town nosed out the Redlegs in the previous engagement 7-6.

Trout was unable to check the Redlegs bats, and Connors had little better success. Trout lasted through part of the sixth inning, but retired after successive blows had knocked away the Beards-town lead.

Big Bill Sporer, after getting off to a bad start in the first inning, when Beards-town ran in five runs, came back to hold the heavy hitting leads from over the river to eight blows.

Sporer quieted down after issuing three passes to start the game, and gave only two more for the next eight innings.

The three walks Sporer gave at the start of the game set the stage for Paul Edwards' mighty wallop for four bases. Thomas came along with a triple net and scored on an error, but from then on Beards-town had to work hard for runs. They got other runs in the sixth and seventh innings, but the Redlegs, with Sporer limiting the hits, kept them from becoming dangerous, after they once had a lead.

John Duffner led the Redleg bombing against the Beards-town position with a pair of triples and a double in four trips to the plate. His double drove in Bubban in the opening inning for the first run, his triple in the sixth sent in two runs, and he opened the eighth with a triple, scoring on Calvin's home run. Duffner, Calvin and aBrenas all registered three blows out of four times out, but Duffner got the palm for extra bases.

GIANTS WALLOP BRAVES TWICE

New York, July 4.—(P)—Carl Hubbell turned in a five-hit shutout in the second game today to give the New York Giants a clean sweep of the holiday double-header with the Boston Braves before a crowd of 42,000 at the Polo grounds.

The opening game went to the world champions 9 to 1, with Freddie Fitzsimmons holding the Braves to six hits, while Hubbell allowed the Yankees only five hits in the New York's 15 to 0 slaughter, which turned out to be the most lop-sided whitewashing of the year.

In the second game the Giants piled up 18 hits off Barrett and Mangum, with Mel Ott getting his 20th and 21st homers, knocking in five runs. Frank (Lefty) O'Doul hit for the circuit once in each game.

Hubbell's shutout was his third of the year and his 12th victory in all, compered with five defeats. It also marked the champs' 24th win in 31 home games and enabled them to take a more secure hold on first place in the National League.

PHILS, DODGERS SPLIT TWIN BILL

Philadelphia, July 4.—(P)—After losing a heartbreaker in the first game, 5 to 3, the Phillies handed the Brooklyn Dodgers a crushing defeat, 11 to 2, in the second contest of a double-header today.

The Dodgers pounded out three runs in the ninth inning to break a 5 to 5 tie and take the victory in the opening game. Leslie and Frederick hit homers for the Dodgers.

Heavy slugging, coupled with splendid hurling by Roy Hansen, enabled the Phils to walk off with the nightcap. Hansen went the distance, holding the Dodgers to five hits.

Tex Carleton and Jim Weaver Pitch Splendid Ball and Cubs Divide Twin Bill With Cards

St. Louis, July 4.—(P)—Tex Carleton and Big Jim Weaver were good pitchers today and the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals split even in a double-header before a holiday crowd of 24,500, the largest to witness a National league game here this season.

Carleton let the Cubs down with 6 hits in the opener, the Cardinals winning, 6 to 2, but the Cubs, behind Weaver's 9-hit pitching, came back to win the nightcap by the same score.

Bill Lee, formerly employed by the Cardinals' Columbus "farm," shut out the Red Birds for five innings in the first game, but met his downfall in the sixth when the Cardinals scored 5 runs. The Cardinals put over another run in the seventh with Charley Root pitching.

The second game was a pitching duel between Weaver and southpaw Jim Mooney until the seventh, when the Cubs scored three runs. Weaver had nine strikeouts, Bill Delancey falling a victim four times.

Joe Medwick made four straight singles in the first game, and got two out of four tries to tie the game in the second.

Kiki Cuyler, Cubs' veteran centerfielder, hit three doubles and a triple in the second game after going hitless in the first.

The Cubs' even break, while the Giants were winning a double-header, dropped them three games behind Bill Terry's league-leaders.

French Fear Press Report of British Alliance is Costly

Paris, July 4.—(P)—France's hope of inducing Great Britain to promise quick armed aid in case of foreign attacks was seriously shaken today by purported revelations in the Daily Herald of a full-fledged Anglo-French military alliance being prepared by the British cabinet.

French officials said the British attitude against anything remotely approaching a military alliance is so well known that the Herald's article is likely to increase British objections to any promise even of the limited nature which France is seeking.

The balloon got off to a poor start from just north of the baseball diamond and after wavering a bit fell just north of Morton avenue, and the parachute jumper landed in a tree at the north edge of the institution grounds. Bote alighted in the top of a fifty foot tree where he was rescued by the fire department.

The balloon ascension scheduled to take place at the Jacksonville State Hospital yesterday afternoon was of short duration. In fact the performer, John Bote, who was to drop in a parachute from the balloon never left the institution boundary lines altho he did leave the ground.

MARIE CURIE WHO GAVE RADIUM TO WORLD IS DEAD

Famous Scientist Has Been in Sanitarium For Several Weeks

Sallanches, France, July 4.—(P)—Mme. Marie Curie, 66, the little woman whose work with her husband in a make-shift laboratory gave humanity the priceless gift of radium, died today. For many weeks she had been under treatment at a sanitarium here for an anemic condition.

Pierre Curie, the young Paris professor who was the co-discoverer of the element, died in 1906 by a truck only a short while after he and his wife had won lasting fame. Although honored by countless governments and societies as one of the most distinguished scientists and women of all time, Mme. Curie shrank from public view. She stayed at work in her laboratory whenever possible.

Twice she was given the Nobel prize in chemistry. In 1922 she became the first woman elected to the French Academy of Sciences, 12 years after she had been defeated for membership in the body.

Thousands of victims of cancer have benefited from the Curies' discovery of radium, one of the world's rarest and most valuable substances.

Only a few ounces of it have been segregated. It is obtained from pitchblende. The effect of radium on human tissue has opened entirely new medical and scientific fields.

Mme. Curie twice visited the United States, to be welcomed with enthusiastic acclaim and to receive gifts of radium, made possible by public subscription, from the hands of President Harding and President Hoover.

The journeys were made in 1921 and 1929. Several colleges and universities conferred degrees upon her.

Roosevelt Watches Sailors Celebrate

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Aboard U. S. S. Gilmer, accompanying President Roosevelt, July 4.—(P)—The cruiser Houston poked around the Bahama Islands today to permit President Roosevelt to observe Independence Day—like many of his fellow countrymen—fishing and watching sporting events.

The Stars and Stripes were unfurled early in these British waters and the president scanned the weather signs eagerly for an opportunity to match his skill against the barracuda and other deep sea denizens.

A stop was planned in the lee of Long Island, one of the Bahamas. There the president was to leave the cruiser in a launch with his fishing companions.

The ships of the presidential flotilla were in gala array, with flags flying a 21-gun national salute to be fired at noon.

Sporting events included the old-fashioned potato and three-legged races, with prizes to be awarded by the president.

The stop for the Fourth of July observance was made possible by a fast run down the coast, putting the flotilla well ahead of schedule. About midnight the Houston swung past the land first sighted by Columbus in his voyage of discovery.

The crews were given a day off to provide a real American holiday for all before proceeding to Cape Hatten tomorrow, and thence to Puerto Rico Friday for the first landing.

Secretary Wallace Defies U.S. Marshal; Hurls Papers Back

Baltimore, July 4.—(P)—Angered when aroused from his Pullman berth to be served with papers naming him as a defendant in a test case of the agricultural adjustment act, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace hurling the papers back into the face of the United States deputy marshal.

Secretary Wallace had been named among the defendants in the suit instituted in the United States district court by the Royal Farms Dairy of Baltimore, questioning the constitutionality of the act. The plaintiff also asked an injunction to restrain the AAA from examining its books.

The government had asked for dismissal of the action as the secretary could not be brought into Maryland to answer to the suit and he was an essential party to the case. Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut denied the petition but said the secretary of agriculture's appearance at the hearing would be necessary.

Judge Chestnut said the challenge of the government's right to investigate the dairy's books raised the most fundamental question that had arisen in his court in many years and he did not wish to make any decision as the one at issue without a full and complete hearing of the merits of the case.

Detectives for the dairy learned that Secretary Wallace was leaving last night for Chautauque, N. Y., to make a speech so court officials with Charles G. Page, attorney for the dairy, boarded the train at Washington and approached Wallace's berth at Odenton, Md.

United States Deputy Marshal E. Norris Becker said Secretary Wallace looked at the summons "and hurled it in my face."

"I picked it up off the floor," the officer related, "and handed it back to him and told him that I wanted him to understand that he was under orders to appear in the United States district court at Baltimore, July 23."

"He threw the summons back at me again. So then I just laid it down on top of him in his berth and walked off."

Secretary Wallace also was served with a summons by Deputy Sheriff B. Hannegan of Baltimore City to appear at a hearing on a similar suit instituted by the dairy company in the circuit court No. 2 of Baltimore.

KENNEDY WARNS WALL STREET HEADS THAT "RIGGING" IS OUT

Washington, July 4.—(P)—"Wise guys" of Wall Street drew a warning today from Joseph P. Kennedy that rigging the market is definitely "out."

Freckled, explosive, the new head of the Securities and Exchange Commission, SEC for short—rolled his sleeves to the elbow and set to work with the avowed intention of showing any critics that he is not "the Street's" representative on the control board.

The Boston financier and business executive said yesterday:

"This act doesn't require anything that anyone dealing in the markets can't afford to do."

"It stops market rigging," he said. "It makes the market safe for the investor. It will be impossible in the future for the speculator to catch a profit on the wing."

Bloodshed Marks Effort to Settle California Strike

San Francisco, July 4.—(P)—A new threat to the peace of the port of San Francisco, involving the state-owned belt line railway, appeared today after Tuesday's bloody rioting left more than a score of wounded on the waterfront.

The railway became involved as the striking longshoremen, police reported, threatened to drive train crews from their jobs and tear up the tracks if they attempt to shunt box cars to and from piers 30 and 32.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported it had learned that the joint marine strike committee, representing all Pacific coast maritime unions out on strike, had determined to reject the offer of the president's national longshoremen's board to act as arbitrator in the bitterly contested dispute now on its 56th day.

Plans for calling out the national guard if Governor Frank Merriam of California considers it necessary were outlined in conferences early today in Sacramento after P. W. Meherin, president of the State Harbor commissioners, said San Francisco police would not be able to cope with the situation.

His report followed an attempt to open the port yesterday by the San Francisco Industrial Association which moved 200 tons of merchandise from the docks under a barrage of bullets and bricks.

Eight policemen were injured, one a lieutenant, suffering a broken leg when he was hit with a brick. Police estimated 15 rioters were injured.

BED-LEG INSPECTORS FIND $20 IN CHICAGO

Chicago, July 4.—(P)—That wasn't a raid at Mrs. Cook's boarding house today. That was just the police looking in the legs of the beds. Joseph Marshall of Orlando, Okla., asked them to do it, explaining he cached $20 there while he was visiting the world's fair and forgot it when he left. The bed-leg detail found it and shipped it off to Marshall.

"Keep what you think is right for your work," Marshall wrote. "No charge," the police answered.

DILLINGER TACTICS USED IN SHOOTING OF CHICAGO POLICEMAN

Chicago, July 4.—(P)—The shooting of a policeman early today gave rise to reports that George "Baby Face" Nelson, John Dillinger lieutenant, was on a rampage, but authorities gave no credence to them.

The ruthlessness of the attack in which Detective William Donovan was wounded by Dillinger mobsters, but their descriptions failed to tally.

Donovan was wounded in the arm and with another detective he sought to question three men who had entered a taxicab in the loop. One of the trio shot the officer, another shot and missed, and the third pressed his revolver into the driver's back, ordering him to drive on.

Pullets Taken From G. Megginson Farm

Fifty to sixty plump white rock pullets were stolen sometime Tuesday night at the farm residence of George Megginson on rural route 7, a mile west of Gravel Springs. Mrs. Megginson was not sure of the exact number, but the thieves took the best of the flock, leaving only a few small ones. The pullets weighed about three pounds each.

The chickens were locked in a brooder house. The thieves did not bother to break thru the door, but removed the hardware cloth screening from the window and gained entrance to the brooder house. Most of the cockerels in the flock had been sold off, and the chickens were shut off so that more could be sold Wednesday.

Members of the family heard the dog barking during the night, but thought nothing of it. Otherwise they had no trace of the marauders. It is not known how the chickens were carried away from the farm.

Sheriff Blackburn and the local police department were notified of the theft. The Sheriff and Deputy Harry Norris went to the Megginson farm Wednesday morning to conduct an investigation.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

SYNOPSIS

Mary Faith, young and comely orphan, is secretary to Mark Nesbit, wealthy young business man. She informs Mark that she is leaving her position to marry Kimberley Farrell, handsome young lawyer, to whom she has been engaged for some time. Invited to Kim's house for dinner, Mary Faith is greeted coldly by his mother. Later, Kim starts Mary Faith by breaking his engagement and asking for the ring. The next morning, Mary Faith informs her co-workers that she is not to be married. She asks them to take back Mark Nesbit takes Mary Faith to board three months ago, not caring what happened to you! And now that you're on your feet again and have a chance to marry a man with money and position, back he comes to make you miserable again! . . . Let me go down and tell him you're never going to see him again."

Mary Faith shook her head. Her face had gone dead white and her eyes were like blue-black water.

"I'm going down," she said, and she went.

Kim was waiting for her at the foot of the stairs. His fur-collared overcoat was on the hall table, and he was turning and twisting his hat in his hands as he watched her come down the last flight of steps.

Her heart seemed to be beating all over her body and there was a singing in her ears; but she greeted him casually as if she had been seeing him every night for months.

"Hello, Kim."

"Get your coat," he said. "Get your hat and coat. I want you to go for a drive."

Her wraps hung on the hall rack where she had put them before dinner while Miss Halperin was using her room. She took them down and put them on with hands that were shaking.

"All right, Kim, I'm ready."

The minute the front door had closed upon them he burst forth: "Mary Faith, I've been like a crazy man for the last three hours! To see you walk into that store and let that fellow buy a ring for you! To see my girl with another man! Good Lord, I couldn't stand it, Mary Faith!"

He opened the door of his little car and they got into it. They sat there looking at each other in the flickering radiance of the street lamp that stood in front of Mrs. Puckett's house.

"I wore your ring for a good many years, Kim. I wore it until you took it away from me," Mary Faith said quietly.

He nodded, his hands pressed to his temples. "I know—I know. Don't talk to me about it. Don't let me what a fool I was."

Suddenly he dropped his hands from his face and caught Mary Faith by her wrists.

"You can believe me or not, but I love you more this minute than I ever did in my life before."

"Only because you think I'm someone else's," Mary Faith answered him. "You haven't wanted to see me for three months, Kim. You've been perfectly happy with that girl. You were perfectly happy with her tonight in that store where you were buying her a mesh bag."

Her pulses were still now, and she could think clearly once again.

"You're what Mrs. Puckett would call 'a dog in the manger,'" she said. "You don't want me, yourself, and you don't want anybody else to have me."

Kim groaned. "Don't talk like that, Mary Faith. . . . I swallow my pride and come here to try to fix things up between us—and you won't even listen to me."

He was like a child, begging to be forgiven. He laid his head down on the back of the seat and buried his face in her shoulder. Mary Faith sat very still.

"Close the door, Agnes, and wait there in the hall for a minute."

It was Mrs. Puckett who spoke. "So he's turned up again like a bad penny—just at the wrong time!" she said in a half whisper as soon as the door had closed upon Agnes. "I wouldn't see him if I were you, Mary Faith. Don't think that I don't know how he's treated you, because I do. I know he threw you overboard three months ago, not caring what happened to you! And now that you're on your feet again and have a chance to marry a man with money and position, back he comes to make you miserable again! . . . Let me go down and tell him you're never going to see him again."

Mary Faith opened the door.

"It's Mr. Farrell, ma'am. Mr. Farrell used to come to see you, you know," Agnes was smiling. She had always liked Kim and given him extra portions of cream and dessert when he came to the house for meals.

"Close the door, Agnes, and wait there in the hall for a minute."

It was Mrs. Puckett who spoke. "So he's turned up again like a bad penny—just at the wrong time!" she said in a half whisper as soon as the door had closed upon Agnes. "I wouldn't see him if I were you, Mary Faith. Don't think that I don't know how he's treated you, because I do. I know he threw you overboard three months ago, not caring what happened to you! Types of German Fighting Men

Men in uniform make up the picture of Germany today. (1) Typical Brown Shirt, one of the 100,000 "SA" storm troops of the Nazis, who helped Hitler to power. (2) A Reichswehr private, member of Germany's small but splendidly equipped and trained regular army. (3) A Berlin demonstration of Stahlhelm (Steel Helmets), war veterans' organization of somewhat older men, monarchistic and conservative in tone. (4) A member of the "SS" or Schutzstaffel troops, a picked Nazi bodyguard of some 20,000 men, wearing black rather than brown, carefully selected as the cream of Nazi civilian soldiery. (5) Regular police, under federal control and armed when necessary in military style to supplement troops.

IVAN WOODS OF FRANKLIN FOUND DEAD WEDNESDAY

Ivan Woods of Franklin, brother of Kenneth and John Woods of Jacksonville, was found dead at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning on the banks of the Illinois river at Mercedosa, where he had gone on a fishing trip. He had been dead about three hours.

Stricken with apoplexy to which he had been subject for some time, Woods fell face forward into the water. His body was found in that position by Elbert Seymour, with whom he went fishing, and several Mercedosa men.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour went to the river Tuesday afternoon, expecting to remain over the Fourth of July. The men placed several trot lines in the river and attended to them several times before midnight. Woods' brother-in-law, Horace Jones and wife of Mercedosa also were in the fishing party but went home about 11 p. m.

Seymour said he laid down and slept for several hours, and when he awoke he missed Woods. A brief search resulted in discovery of the body.

The remains were removed to the Schaeffer Funeral Home where Coroner Elmer Sample conducted an inquest Wednesday morning. The jury decided that death was caused by a stroke of apoplexy, the secondary cause falling in the water.

The jurors were William L. Widay, foreman; Herbert Bland, Ancil Hodges, Ora Lemon, Jesse Brackville and Charles Yost.

Woods was 44 years old, and well known in Franklin where he spent his entire life. He was a concrete worker. Surviving are his wife, several children and brothers.

E. W. MARLAND, AND TOM ANGLIN ARE IN RUN-OFF

Second Primary Will Be Held in Oklahoma on July 24th

Oklahoma City, July 4.—(P)—Representative E. W. Marland running on a "new deal" platform, held a 40,000-vote margin over Speaker Tom Anglin, chosen candidate of Governor William H. Murray, tonight in the tabulation of votes from Tuesday's democratic gubernatorial primary.

The two leading candidates will compete in a runoff July 24.

"Bringing the new deal to Oklahoma," was the slogan of Marland, who is a millionaire philanthropist who turned to politics two years ago after his oil fortune faded.

"I know from the vote today," he said, "that we in Oklahoma will do our part in the national recovery program."

Marland attributed his surprising showing to his advocacy of a home subsistence plan, one of the platform planks that he dovetailed with President Roosevelt's national recovery program.

Anglin, veteran of 16 years in the state legislature, increased his lead over Jack Walton, removed as governor in 1932 to 10,000 votes. The dozen other candidates, including Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns and attorney general J. Berry King, were out of the running.

Returns from 2470 precincts out of 3352 gave the three leaders.

Marland 111,301; Anglin 79,301; Walton 69,684.

A new and sharper division of the administration and anti-Murray forces was indicated as King declared.

"I'm mighty elated over the election result. My chief ambition was to stamp out Murrayism in Oklahoma. It is apparent that has been definitely done."

Will Rogers of Ardmore apparently was assured of first place in the Congress-at-large, which he won unexpectedly two years ago. Second place was between E. B. Howard, former Congressman, and Henry S. Johnston, ex-governor.

Wesley Disney, first district congressman, had a clear majority, which if maintained will eliminate a runoff.

Rep. F. B. Swank, fifth district, apparently was defeated. Josh Lee, University of Oklahoma public speaking professor had close to a majority and John Tomerlin of Oklahoma City was in second place.

The remaining incumbent Congressmen were assured of places in the run-off. It appeared, while close races were being waged in the second and eighth districts in which Rep. W. W. Hastings and Marland retired.

COMMUNISTS TO LAUNCH WAR ON SPECULATORS

Will Attempt to Halt Short Weights And Measures, Inferior Goods

By Charles Stephenson Smith. Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Moscow, July 4.—(P)—Young Communists and the Russian press were drafted today into a war on thieves and speculators said to be exploiting the public through excessive prices, short weights and measures and inferior goods.

The Communist party's inspection committee announced it has taken up the gage of battle to rid the country of small and large graft. Kulaiks (land-owning peasants) are among those upon whom the lash may fall.

In a speech which Lazar Kaganovich, committee chairman, recently made he appealed to housewives generally and all party and non-party members to join in a drive against dishonesty in shops and industries and in collective and state farms and transport systems.

Although there has been a thorough cleaning of the Communist party, Kaganovich said, many had elements remain.

This he said, was shown at Kiev, where five Communists were shot for co-operating with speculators.

He also mentioned graft, discovered in the oil marketing trust, the fur trust and the glass industry. He said a merciless fight is necessary everywhere to checkmate thieves.

Vigilance on the part of the public was urged by Kaganovich as
